

Cannabis and Women's Health

The new adult-use regulations have left consumers wondering what products are available to support women's health, what types of products to use or consume with respect to the desired effect, and how to safely and legally take advantage of the products that are available.

In this presentation, attorney Rebecca Mendribil will discuss the legal parameters of adult use, including what is required to make a purchase, interpreting new labels, and questions to ask.

Ms. Mendribil has also invited women from Natural Cannabis Company, run by Dona Frank, a lauded female pioneer in the cannabis industry, to present and discuss an array of cannabis products geared towards women's health and wellness.
